Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

2. Claims 23, 25, 28, 30-33, 35-38 and 41-45 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. For example, in lines 6-8 of claim 23, "to access the cellular radio telephone optionally both separately from accessing said component and simultaneously therewith" is subject matter not described in the specification to a skilled artisan at the time the application was filed. The specification, however, does provide support for accessing the cellular radio telephone and the components.

Also, for example, claims 41 and 42 recite "the play-back dictation is automatically effected a predetermined time after the dictation recording" and "the played-back dictation is effected after a predetermined number of dictation recordings" respectively. The recitations are subject matter not described in the specification to a skilled artisan at the time the application was filed. The specification, however, does provide support for dictation recorded and played back.

Additionally, for example, claims 43 and 44 recite a disc. A disc was not described in the specification to a skilled artisan at the time the application was filed. The specification, however, does provide support for a tape.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

5. Claims 16-20, 23,25,27,28,30-33 and 35-46 are 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ishikawa et al (US 4,698,838) in view of Dubus (US 4,731,811). Ishikawa et al shows in figure 1 steering wheel region 4 and vehicle cellular radiotelephone 2 for use by a driver in a vehicle.

Ishikawa et al is silent, however, as to a voice controlled switching mechanism programmed with and responsive to a plurality of pre-designated separate voice commands for operation of an “entertainment deck” and cellular radio telephone.

Dubus shows in figures 1-3 voice controlled switching mechanism 2 and 3 programmed with and responsive to a plurality of pre-designated separate voice commands for operation of “entertainment deck” 8 and 9 and cellular radio telephone 12. See column 4, lines 56 through column 5, line 15. Also, in column 3, lines 25-27 and lines 30-31, Dubus does permit simultaneously operating a cellular telephone and a car radio, since both components are able to be separately operated.

It would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art the time the invention was made to provide the cellular radio telephone in the steering wheel of Ishikawa et al with a voice controlled mechanism as taught by Dubus. The rationale is as follows: one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made would have been motivated to provide a cellular radio telephone in a steering wheel with a voice controlled mechanism to provide a hands-free telephone system. See column 1, line 40 through line 5 of column 2.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed March 25, 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Curiously, applicant has stated that the "Office, however, appears to recognize that the Dubus patent, unlike applicants, does not teach an option where the telephone and the entertainment deck component can be used simultaneously". It is unclear where this statement stems from. Nonetheless, as stated supra, in column 3, lines 25-27 and lines 30-31, Dubus does permit simultaneously operating a cellular telephone and a car radio, since both components are able to be separately operated.

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
